FATHER NORRIS' FUNERAL.

The Remains Left in St. Charles Church
Over Night. Several Masses
This Morning.

The remains of the late Father James F. Norris of West Fitchburg, who died at the residence of Rev. D. C. Moran at Adams, at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, were carried to St. Charles church Thursday afternoon and all night long,
members of the parish remained with the late beloved priest. Several prayer services occurred during the night and this morning several masses were said beginning at 6:30 o'clock when Rev. Michael Welch officiated. Masses were as follows:
6 o'clock, Rev. D. C. Moran; 6:30, Rev.
Joseph McGrath; 7, Rev. Martin Murphy of Great Barrington; 7:30, Rev. M. J.
Coyne.

A solemn high mass was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. John H. Murphy of Lee was celebrant; Rev. D. C. Moran, deacon; Rev. Martin Murphy, of Great Barrington, sub-deacon; Revs. M. J.
Coyne and Joseph McGrath, masters of ceremony. There was a very large number of priests present from all parts of the diocese. After the service the corpses was taken to North Adams and on the 11:44 Fitchburg train to West
Fitchburg.

Bishop Beaven will officiate at the mass to be celebrated before the funeral in West Fitchburg at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Interment will be made in Fitchburg.

Father James F. Norris was born in Turkstown, Parish of Pittstown, county
Kilkenny, Ireland, in March, 1839, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Norris. He commenced his studies at Waterford and was ordained a priest for the diocese of Springfield, at the University of Louvain in Belgium. After a short vacation the young priest located in Chicopee in 1851.
He remained there four years as curate
and during the succeeding half decade
was in North Adams in the same capacity.
Six years ago he was sent to Otto River as pastor and remained there until appointed to West Fitchburg about three years ago. His health has been poor for the past two years and his sudden death was due to heart failure. Father Norris leaves in Ireland, his father, two brothers and a sister, whom he visited recently returning with Rev. Father Moran three weeks ago. He was here at that time. Upon going home he felt poorly and came to Adams Tuesday thinking the Berkshire air would benefit him. But the end was too near and death came Wednesday night and out of a career full of brightness and of promise. He was greatly beloved both as priest and man.

At the service this morning Rev.
Father Burke of North Adams, with whom the deceased clergyman was stationed for several years, delivered a splendid eulogy to his memory.

WHY WE HAD TO BORROW.

Insufficient Revenues Under the Free Trade
Tariff to Run the Government.

The deficiency of revenue from July 1, 1893, to July 1, 1896, under Mr. Cleveland's administration amounted to nearly $147,500,000. The loss in foreign trade balance to our favor during 23 months of the McKinley tariff, was in excess of $94,000,000. These two items foot up a little more than $241,000,000. The American Economist, presenting these figures, calls attention to the fact that they are but a few millions less than the amount of now debt—$202,000,000—imposed upon the American people by Mr. Cleveland's administration.

It is a strange thing that under such circumstances intelligent citizens persist
in regarding the president's general policies with feelings of admiration. A business man who should destroy his interest bearing securities and then endeavor to maintain himself with borrowed money would be put under restraint by his friends. In what particular is superior wisdom displayed by the rulers of a great nation who first throw away wantonly ample revenues from usual sources and then negotiate loans that they may defray the cost of government?

How Irishmen Feel.

An Irishman—a sharp, shrewd and well read gentleman—recently expressed his sentiments as follows: "Free trade has ruined Ireland, beggared its people and driven them into exile. It will do the same by any people who adopt it.
It is the duty of every Irishman to vote
for McKinley, the champion of protection and the foe of British free trade.
And any Irishman who will vote for Bryan ought to have written across his forehead in lines of blood and brimstone, that all people might see it: 'I am no longer an Irishman. I am a traitor
(to my race and a slave of Great Britain.)'"

It is the duty of every American citizen to rise up as one man, unite heart and hand and work from now on until Nov. 8, for McKinley, the advance agent of prosperity, whose election will bring to the American people a return of good times, plenty of employment, better wages, better markets and happier homes.

Spain has 4,180,000 women over the

ing from 1200 to 2000. The balance of the load

Free Raw Material Result.

There are 94 woolen and worsted mills in the state of Rhode Island, and 68 of them employed 19,070 hands when running full time in 1892. It is believed that only 15 out of the 94 mills are now running at all, on full or part time, and that only 2,475 hands are earning any wages. This is a free raw material object lesson, the result of free trade in wool, among the woolen and worsted factories.

The Donkey's Fate.

"I Believe in Free Iron Ore."

Of course you do, Mr. Bryan. You want to close up all American iron mines or make American labor work at Europe's pauper prices. It is "immaterial" to you whether everybody else in the country starves or not so long as your salary and earnings are secure.
Make labor idle and labor cheap—that is always the free trade idea of prosperity.

be convinced.

DU MAURIER'S DEATH

Sketch of the Career of the Late Tale-Teller and Satirist.

SPRUNG INTO PROMINENCE BY PUNCH

Not an Acknowledged Wit, But Almost Always as Happy as His Deeds—Extraordinary Popularity of His Stories.

London, Oct. 8.—The death yesterday of George Du Maurier, the property, George Louis Palmella, Russell Du Maurier, for such was the portentous name he bore, was a greater loss to society at large than would be that of many a greater man. This popular tale-teller and social satirist was of French extraction, his paternal grandparents having fled to England during the Terror and settled in London, but he was a British subject by birth, although he first saw the light in Paris and lived there until he was seventeen years old. Then he was taken to England and sent to University College, London, where he studied chemistry. It soon became evident, however, that he was not destined to shine in this branch of study, whereas he had given many indications of his artistic predilections in his constant production of sketches and caricatures. It was determined, therefore, that he should go to Paris to learn painting under the direction of M. Gleyre, and, later on, he proceeded to Antwerp and Düsseldorf. It was in the former town that he was stricken with the sickness that deprived him of the sight of one eye and, for some time, threatened him with the loss of the other. After escaping this peril he returned to London and set to work to earn his living as an illustrator, dwelling in humble lodgings with his friend Lionel Healey, and winning a bare subsistence from day to day, not always knowing, indeed, where the next day's dinner was to come from. In those days he was a ferocious radical, and was very bitter against the society in which he found soon afterwards his best and most remunerative opportunities.

His Work for Punch.

At the age of 26 he began to furnish occasional contributions to Punch. His skill and humor were developed rapidly and when John Leech died he was invited to fill his place at the famous table, and carved his monogram between those of his predecessor and Thackeray. Mark Lemon was the editor in those days and he was quick to perceive in what direction the powers of his new associate lay, and advised him not to try to be too funny, but to confine himself to the gently humorous and graceful side of things. It was not long before the weekly work of Du Maurier came to be regarded as one of the chief attractions of the publication, and for many years he and the veteran cartoonist, Sir John Tenniel, did more than any others to maintain its reputation for artistic draughtsmanship. Although the vast majority of his social figures, especially of his women, were modeled from one or two original types, they nevertheless possessed clear and strong individualities, while the framework in which they were set was always artistic and accurate in a delightful degree.

Not an Acknowledged Wit.

Du Maurier, although not an acknowledged wit, was almost always as happy as he was in his designs. His inimitable conversations, often doubtless taken pretty closely from life, were exactly appropriate to the society of which the atmosphere was reproduced so faithfully in his pictures. His humor was seldom very rich or very deep, but it was not devoid of either sparkle or snap, and was eminently alike for its truthfulness and its refinement. He could flit with unerring aim at folly as it flies but his attack was ever free from all malice and vulgarity. As a book illustrator he often proved himself a master of pathos as well as humor, and many of his plates are noteworthy for strength and dignity as well as tenderness.

Popularity of His Stories.

As an author, his stories were extraordinarily popular. "Peter Ibbotson," his first novel published in 1891, was a surprise to those who had not suspected his literary capacities, and his "Tillie," as everybody knows, commanded an enormous sale, and in its dramatic form is still filling theaters on both sides of the Atlantic. The excitement attending this extraordinary and unforeseen popularity is said to have been one of the chief causes of his physical breakdown. He lived long enough to read all but the very last proofs of his third book, "The Martian."

To Be Tendered a Home Welcome.

Jersey City, Oct. 9.—Upon their arrival from England, where they have been since April, Frances E. Willard and Anna A. Gordon will be tendered a welcome by the Women's Christian Temperance union of New Jersey in Mr. Seudder's tabernacle in this city on Tuesday evening, October 13, next.

Investigating American Cattle.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—From inquiries made here it has developed that the German government is making, on its own account, an investigation of the health of American cattle, possibly with a view of again placing an embargo upon American beef.

Return of Soudan Expedition Officers.

Dongola, Oct. 9.—Gen. Sir Herbert Kitchener, commander of the British Egyptian expedition, Staffa Pasha of the intelligence department, and other leading officers of the Soudan expedition have returned to Cairo.

Treasury Civil Service Employees.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A complete list of the employees in the civil service of the treasury places the total at 23,548.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 9.—Geo. Hewitt, convicted in the penitentiary here undergoing a life sentence, savagely attacked Chief Keeper Hughes with a pair of shears last evening and was shot dead by the latter in self-defense after a desperate encounter.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Acting Attorney General Whitney has decided that penal duties once paid into the treasury cannot be refunded by the secretary of the treasury.

KITES FOR ARMY SIGNALS.

Efforts To Be Made at Governors Island To Send a Man Into the Clouds.

New York, Oct. 9.—A sight which attracted quite a crowd at the Battery yesterday afternoon was two kites and suspended from the lower one what appeared to be a man. The kites were sent up by Lieut. H. D. Wise from Governors Island, who has been experimenting with them for some time. They are models of Lieut. Wise's and improvements on the Hargrave model. They consist of double aeroplanes, the larger one being nine feet square and weighing sixteen pounds. Two kites were sent up, a small one weighing about five pounds and reaching an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet, and below about 400 feet was the larger kite from which was suspended a dummy. The dummy consisted of a regular army uniform stuffed and weighing forty pounds. The test was made to ascertain its usefulness for signal purposes and was quite successful. Further experiments are to be made in the near future when a man instead of a dummy will be used.

VICTORY FOR OIL COMPANY.

The Pipes Under Pennsylvania Railroad Tracks Near Belvidere to Stay.

Belvidere, N. J., Oct. 9.—The case of the Pennsylvania Railroad company vs. The United States Pipe Line company has been decided in favor of the oil company. It was a suit in ejectment and trespass to compel the oil company to remove two pipes which were placed under a culvert of the railroad company about a mile south of Belvidere. The pipes were laid in the night last August. The suit involved the title to the public road at that point. The oil company bought the right to sell at that point and the railroad company contended that no one had the right to sell the right to cross under their railroad. There was considerable excitement over the outcome of the trial, and Judge Gammon ordered the courtroom doors closed and a constable to bring before him any one who made any demonstration over the verdict.

GREETED BY A BIG CROWD.

Unexpected Reception to Gen. and Mrs. Harrison at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Gen. Harrison and his wife arrived here yesterday afternoon, and were greeted at the Union station by a crowd of 1,000 people. The appearance of the ex-president was the signal for cheers, and in reply to calls for a speech he was conducted to Jackson place, directly in front of the depot, where he spoke for nearly five minutes. His remarks were confined almost entirely to thanking his hearers for the ardor with which they received him back home after an absence of several months. After this altogether unexpected incident in connection with his arrival, the ex-president and his wife were driven to their North Delaware street home.

HOPE AT ST. JOHNS.

The Steamship Encountered Terrible Weather on the Voyage from Sydney.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 9.—The Peary expedition steamship Hope arrived here at midnight. She encountered terrible weather on the passage from Sydney. Her decks were swept, her forecastle was flooded and her compass damaged. The damage to the compass caused her to run 190 miles out of her course, and she nearly went ashore at Miquelon Island. She only escaped through timely soundings. Capt. Bartlett is well satisfied with the result of the Arctic trip. He says that Lieut. Peary hopes to return north again next summer, taking with him about forty scientists to explore Cumberland Sound and Melville Bay.

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE

Bank Treasurer Marsh of Gloucester Kills Himself.

HIS ACCOUNTS SAID TO BE STRAIGHT

The Bank Directors Become Suddenly Reluctant and All Manner of Rumors Are Set Afloat—Cape Ann Greatly Excited.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 9.—The people of this city and, in fact, all residents of Cape Ann, were thrown into a state of great excitement when it was learned that George J. Marsh, treasurer of the Cape Ann Savings bank, had shot himself fatally in the head at his residence in Annisquam yesterday afternoon. Shortly before 11 o'clock in the forenoon the curtains in the bank were drawn, the door locked and a notice posted up bearing the following: "Bank closed, balance of the day." This caused considerable inquiry and many comments were made. The officials of the bank gathered and quickly went into the rear room and the mystery of the closing of the bank in business hours was discussed. The mystery continued until after 3 o'clock when the terrible fact could no longer be kept a secret, that the treasurer of the bank had shot himself. The following are the particulars as told by Charles E. Sawyer:

Notified the Directors of His Intention.

John Strum, janitor of the bank, engaged Sawyer to assist in hauling up a yacht on Mr. Marsh's place about 12½ miles while working about the premises. Mr. Marsh was seen about there and his footsteps heard as he paced up and down inside the house. They suspected nothing wrong. Having completed their work Sawyer proceeded directly up the street. Mr. Strum then entered the house and had occasion to visit the cellar. He had hardly got down stairs when a sight of horror met his eyes, for lying in a heap in front of him on the floor was Mr. Marsh, dead, while alongside of him was a gun. Mr. Strum at once summoned assistance. Dr. Garland responded at once and found Mr. Marsh in the position described. A great hole was through his face and his brains were entirely blown out. As nothing could be done Dr. Garland, who is an officer of the bank, at once returned to the city and was in close conference with the directors late in the afternoon. Mr. Marsh agreed to attend a meeting of the trustees of the savings bank in the forenoon. When the trustees met a letter was found in his handwriting directed to Sylvester Cunningham, saying that his (Marsh's) body would be found in the cellar at his summer house at Annisquam.

His Accounts Said To Be All Right.

Mr. Marsh was connected with the Addison Gilbert estate and many others, but nothing as yet is known as to the condition of the property. He was no doubt temporarily insane. The bank commissioners, it is said, made an examination of the bank Wednesday, and it is all right beyond question. It is also said that the commissioners were summoned by telegraph, but nothing to corroborate could be learned. The bank is considered one of the strongest financial institutions in the state, as it has over $3,000,000 on deposit. Mr. Marsh, who had been treasurer for nearly thirty years, was considered a very shrewd manager. It is the opinion of the officials of other banks that the savings bank is all right and that none of its funds have been misapplied. To-day the bank officials have become suddenly reticent and no statement can be gotten from them. Many rumors in connection with the suicide and bank are now afloat.

New York, Oct. 9.—The gain in gold by the United States treasury since the first arrivals August 28 in the present import movement has been in round numbers $32,000,000. The withdrawals from the treasury in Washington and from all sub-treasuries in the same time covering forty-two business days, has been $7,861,000, so that the net gain by the treasury has been about $24,000,000. The withdrawals for use in the arts have averaged $25,000 a day, or $1,050,000 altogether. Other withdrawals "in ordinary course" have averaged $600,000 a day, making a total of $2,520,000. Adding to this last named sum the gold withdrawn for use in the arts the aggregate is $3,570,000. The chief withdrawals otherwise have been from the San Francisco sub-treasury by Pacific coast banks. SENATOR HILL'S POSITION.

Anxious To See the Democrats Win, But He Will Take No Part in the Campaign.

New York, Oct. 9.—National committeeman Frank Campbell was seen late last evening at democratic headquarters. In response to an inquiry he said he had just returned from Albany where he had gone for the purpose of having a consult with Senator Hill about several matters of importance in the present campaign. Mr. Campbell spent the night at Wolfert's Room with Senator Hill. When asked as to the position of Senator Hill generally in the canvass Mr. Campbell said: "Senator Hill has been in consultation with those charged with the management of the campaign in this state from the start and has been and will continue to be of aid to them because of his interest in the success of the democratic party in state and union. He is not in sympathy with those democrats who would defeat the ticket because the platform is in some respects unsatisfactory to them. He feels that the position taken by him at Chicago makes it impossible for him to serve his party effectively in this campaign by any other course than that so far pursued by him." When Chairman Danforth's attention was called to the interview of Mr. Campbell in reference to Senator Hill's attitude toward the national and state tickets he said that he believed his position was as stated in Mr. Campbell's interview. This interview confirms a previous statement of Mr. Danforth, that Senator Hill would not take any active part in the campaign.

ORIOLES WIN THE TEMPLE CUP.

The Champions Take Four Straight Games from the Clevelanders.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Baltimore won the Temple cup by winning yesterday's game from the Clevelanders. The game was a fine exhibition for the fans, neither side scoring during that period. Corbett was in the box for the Orioles and was invincible. Once with a man on second and third and only one out he kept the spiders from scoring. He struck out eight men, and added to the glory of his performance by hitting safely every time he was at the bat. Cuppy pitched beautifully for six innings, only four hits being made off him up to the seventh. In the seventh a double followed by a long single and three outs resulted in two runs. Corbett singled in the eighth and Keller and Jennings doubled and Doyle singled, three runs being scored. Commendation is due the umpires for faultless work, not a single decision being questioned. Attendance, 1,200. Weather, very cold.

CLEVELAND RETURNS

Arrived in Washington at an Early Hour This Morning.

MRS. CLEVELAND VISITING IN JERSEY

Nothing at Present Demanding the President's Attention, He Will Get Down to Work on His Message to Congress.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Cleveland, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Thurber, arrived early this morning in a private car over the Pennsylvania railroad. A carriage was in waiting and the president and his secretary were driven to the white house. The president will get to work as soon as possible on his message to congress, and as there are no matters now demanding his immediate attention he will not likely be interrupted in its preparation. The president journeyed from Buzzards Bay to New York in Mr. Benedict's yacht Onida and last evening, accompanied by his physician, Dr. William C. Bryant, Miss Bryant and Mr. Thurber, drove to Daly's theatre, where they witnessed the play "The Geisha." At the close of the performance Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Thurber were driven to Jersey City, where they took the midnight train for Washington. Mrs. Cleveland spent yesterday with friends at Lakewood, N. J., and did not accompany the president. The report from New York that President Cleveland had purchased a tract of land at Hempstead, L. I., and next spring will erect a summer residence there is confirmed. He has abandoned the idea of making a tour of the world at the expiration of his term, mainly for the reason that domestic causes will compel Mrs. Cleveland to have peace and quiet for a time. The property at Hempstead immediately adjoins that of ex-Secretary Whitney, and is within a short distance of E. D. Morgan's home. It is expected that the president and his family will also spend some time here next summer.

FIERCEST BATTLE OF THE WAR.

Gen. Bernal Describes the Battle with Cuban Rebels at Caba de Negro.

Havana, Oct. 9.—Gen. Bernal, whose troops were recently in battle with Maceo's forces, has arrived here. He is ill. He gives further details of the engagement at Caba de Negro. After the rebels were dislodged from their first position the troops, encamped on their ground. Later, the rebels, 2,000 strong, tried to surround the troops. A desperate fight ensued, a fight which Gen. Bernal states was fiercer than any that has ever before occurred in a Cuban war. The rebels were finally repulsed. They retreated in the direction of the Great Hills. Besides the officers previously reported killed, a lieutenant colonel lost his life in this engagement. The steamer Guanacabo, which arrived here last evening brought 175 sick soldiers from the province of Pinar del Rio. Casimiro Piedraito will be shot to-day at the Cuban fortress for the crime of rebellion.

Upholds Gould's Protest.

London, Oct. 9.—The Yachtsman, in a long editorial on the subject of Howard Gould's protest against the action of the committee of the Yacht Racing association in boarding and examining the yacht Niagara without Mr. Gould's knowledge, contends that Mr. Gould is certainly justified in claiming that the council of the Yacht Racing association should explain its conduct. The paper criticizes the council for its action in the matter.

Denounced as a Fake.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—A Chicago Associated Press dispatch dated Winnipeg, Man., of yesterday's date says that the head of the Telegraphers union had ordered another strike on the Canadian Pacific railway. The management of the Canadian Pacific railway were seen last night and declared that the Winnipeg dispatch was a fake and nothing more. They say there is no truth in the story that another strike has been ordered and wish it denied.

Declined Nomination for Congress.

Buffalo, Oct. 9.—William C. O'Neil, nominated on Saturday last as democratic candidate for congress in the Thirty-second district, has declined, and Charles Rung, a prominent furniture dealer, has been substituted in his place. Florida Election Returns.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 9.—Complete returns from thirty-four counties give Bloxham (dem.) a majority over all of 13,423. The same counties in 1892, there being no republican ticket in the field, gave democratic majorities of 22,305. The remaining eleven counties gave democratic majorities aggregating 4,450 in 1892. The indication is that the democratic ticket is elected by a majority of 15,000, or a plurality over the republicans of 17,500. In 1892, the majority for Mitchell (dem.) over Basins (rep.) was 23,393.
